VICE-CHANCELLOR'S MESSAGE

Being a woman is the utmost honor. But in a patriarchal society, where a woman is still looked at as "other", as still a subordinate to their male counterparts, the woman cannot feel proud of this honor conferred upon her by Nature or God. If we look at history, we can understand how women have been subjugated eons together. Only education has brought out the hidden potential of women all over the world. Recent history has proven the capacity of woman leaders and administrators.

In fact, when women decided to go out on professional purpose, there was a big doubt about the ability of women, because they had to juggle between the domestic and professional responsibilities. But many women have proved to be successful in both domains. They are able to do multitasking as working-studying-woman-wife-mother-daughter-in-law and mother-in-laws.

Despite this truth, even now in many parts of the country, women have to be tougher as their counterparts in order to gain respect, recognition, equal status and power. They have to exhibit their capacity in viewing the community as well as global issues in a whole picture, flexible in taking advices from people with various backgrounds, and then taking the decisions independently and correctly.

It is time now that the young women equip themselves with strong and quality education so that they could prove themselves better leaders of the world by controlling the conflicts with their more effective policies and strategies.

Dr. Vaidehi Vijayakumar Vice- Chancellor

REGISTRAR'S MESSAGE

India today is at the cusp of paradigm change in its growth and its position in the world. With the technological advancement problems and conflicts also have advanced quantitatively and qualitatively. In this digitalized world challenges to women also are highly complicated. Women must act wisely and decisively to capture this opportunity. We need to think big and scale up rapidly in each and every area, be it education, infrastructure, industry, financial services etc. For around two centuries social reformers have endeavored to bring women out of their confinements. Women have to sharpen their leadership qualities in various ways.

Mother Teresa women's University takes its strident steps in catering to the needs of the society. It takes all meticulous measures in providing the suitable arena to its young woman—learners to nurture their leadership quality in various dimensions. With the training and practice rendered on this platform they would not only emerge as intelligent leaders, but also as sustainable leaders with their dynamic perspectives.

Dr. A. Suganthi Registrar
